

CEO Tang, Behave Yourself Novel Chapter 11 To 12

Chapter 11

He took out an empty bowl and placed it in front of him. The bottom of the bowl was covered with a layer of white sugar, and in his hand was a large spoon, which was filled with scalding soy milk. He warned her to be careful, and she held the spoon up high, seventy to eighty centimeters away from the big bowl on the table.

After he finished washing the soy milk, the shop owner turned around and went to the entrance to pick up the fried dough sticks. After he put them down, he instructed Su Wen to eat while it was still warm.

After this series of actions, only a few dozen seconds had passed.

“Little girl, eat while it’s hot!” The old lady beside him smiled and reminded him.

“Oh, okay!” Nikki picked up the spoon beside her and stirred the soy milk, so that the white sugar inside would melt more fully.

Because he was afraid of being scalded, Su Wen’s first sip was only half a spoonful. When the warm soy milk slid down his tongue and into his mouth, he immediately tasted the difference between the soy milk and other restaurants. This store’s soy milk was very refreshing, and he could taste that and not add anything else.

As soon as she took this tiny bite, she felt a lot of the Chilling Qi dissipate from her body. Moreover, the temperature wasn’t as hot as she had imagined. It would be fine if she just blew a little before it entered her mouth.

“How is it? Isn’t it delicious?” The old lady beside him asked with a smile as she watched him drink.

Su Wen nodded, “Yes, it’s super delicious. Grandma, do you live here? It seems like you come here to drink a lot!”

The old lady smiled and shook her head, pointing at the stern old man opposite her, “I live far away, it takes me more than half an hour to drive here.” The old lady smiled and shook her head, pointing to the serious old man opposite her, “I live far away, and drive here it takes more than half an hour to drive here, but

Su Wen smiled at the still silent old man, then looked at the friendly and smiling old lady. “Grandma, the relationship between you and grandpa is really good. Young husband and wife, always coming together, that’s exactly what you guys are talking about!”

“Hahaha, little girl, you really know how to talk!” The old lady was in a good mood as she pointed at the soy milk in front of Su Wangliang, “Girl, hurry up and drink it while it’s hot, it won’t taste good when it’s cold, and this youtiao is also good. It’s nice to eat now, not too hot and crisp, but it’s been put out for a long time.

From what she could tell, this couple was also people who loved to eat and cared a lot about food. She agreed with a smile, then buried her head in her food.

She always thought that being alive was the most important thing in life. In the past, when she was abroad alone, she had even taken the four hours train to eat a bowl of Eel Fish Rice, and then took the four hours train back home after eating it.

When she finished the fried dough sticks and soy milk, and finally raised her head in satisfaction, she found that the two old men had already finished their bowl of food and were staring at her!

Upon seeing this, Su Wen was about to stand up. He hurriedly apologized, “I’m so sorry, grandpa and grandma. I was too engrossed in my food just now, so I didn’t notice that I was sitting like this. You guys can’t get out.”

The old lady didn’t wait for him to get up, instead, she pulled him back onto the chair and sat him down.

“No need to apologize, just sit down for a while. The old man and I are in no hurry to leave. After eating something steaming hot, we need to sit there and eat. If we get blown out by this cold wind, our stomachs will ache!”

Since she had already handed in the script for this month, she had originally planned to use these few days of her free time to purchase some daily necessities and familiarize herself with the surrounding environment. However, she wasn't in a hurry.

"I saw you eating happily just now, little girl, it seems like you're a glutton too!" The old lady rarely felt that warmth had caught her eyes, so she couldn't help but chat for a while.

Nikki smiled embarrassedly. "Grandmother, you have good eyesight. I've tried to disguise it before, but you still saw through it. However, this shop's soy milk and youtiao is really much better than other places!"

"Of course, don't just look at the small shop, this boss has been selling soy milk and youtiao for more than twenty years. He doesn't sell anything else, just soy milk, youtiao, sesame seed cakes, and noodle soup. Do you think he would do anything bad if he devoted the past twenty years to one thing?" Now, it's all about craftsmanship. I say, this is it! Isn't that right, old man? "

After saying this, the old lady turned to look at the taciturn old man.

But this time, the old mister who had never spoken before nodded his head. "That's right!"

After saying that, the taciturn old man stopped talking. Seeing that the old lady didn't intend to leave, he didn't hurry her and only took out a small notebook from a handbag beside him.

Su Qingrou glanced at it and discovered that it was a book that introduced all kinds of delicacies. It seemed that this old couple were also a pair of guests!

"Little girl, from your accent, you don't sound like a local. Where are you from?"

Nikki smiled. "I just arrived here two days ago. My hometown is in a small village in the south near the sea. I'm afraid you've never heard of this place before!"

"That's true. Our country is vast and abundant, and there are many places that I've never been to before, or even never heard of before!" The old lady looked at her old partner again, "I say, we've already stayed here for a long time, shouldn't we prepare for our next destination?"

The old man muttered to himself for a while, "I'll stay for a few more days. It's not easy to get together with my grandson. I was hoping to see him get married this time!"

"I advise you to stop thinking this way as soon as possible. Do you think that our eldest grandson has any intentions of getting married?" "Young people nowadays are different from us, many of them are unmarried people. That grandson of ours, I think it's more or less the same, I'm not sure if we two old guys can see him getting married and having children before we close our eyes, but I don't think we have any chance of doing so in the past few years!"

The old lady was obviously more open-minded towards this question than the old man. She would do whatever her grandson wanted, and she would not force him to do anything difficult.

Chapter 12

Seeing that the two old men were talking about family matters, Sun Wanxi couldn't really interrupt them. She could only sit quietly to the side and prepare to find a chance to take her leave.

Without waiting for her to find an opportunity, the old lady turned to look at her, "Girl, you're also a young man. From the looks of it, you're not married yet, right?"

"This ..." She noticed that the old man's gaze was also focused on her face, as if he was waiting for her to give an answer.

Girl, just say whatever you want, as long as it's your heartfelt words, we didn't know each other before, I don't think we'll meet again in the future, you don't have to worry about offending us, right?

"Actually, I quite agree with Grandmother's point of view. In the event of a marriage, you have to decide for yourself, and the matter of a man loving a woman is like drinking water, it's not good for an outsider to give their opinion, but the elder's worry about the marriage is common sense, I think the elder can properly help introduce the person, but after that, it's best not to interfere anymore!"

Su Wangyou's words were reasonable and reasonable. Furthermore, the way she said it, and the speed of her speech, were all very appropriate. It was very easy for others to take her words in.

The old man muttered to himself for a while, then looked up at the old lady, "Forget it, since you've all said it like this, I don't care about that brat anymore. When we get back, you think about where you want to go to play. We'll leave tomorrow morning!"

When the old lady heard this, she couldn't hold back her joy anymore and gestured at him, "You're great!"

Nikki smiled and took the opportunity to take her leave.

This time, the old lady didn't pull her, because at the same time that Nikki stood up, a young man in a black suit walked in front of them and respectfully said, "Mr. Tang, Mrs. Tang, the car is ready!"

Nikki looked at this man in a suit and felt that he was extremely out of place in this simple and crude shop. From the looks of it, he should be the driver or bodyguard of the two old men.

Although these two old men had outstanding temperament, they dressed in very ordinary clothes. They actually had a special driver. They couldn't be the old grandpas and grandpas from some noble family, right?

This was the standard setup for the female lead in romance novels! And today, she had chatted quite well with these two elders. Did this mean that she, as a ten-thousand-year-old female dragon, was finally going to ascend to become the female lead?

Just when her mind was filled with thoughts of going overboard, the old lady smiled at him, "Girl, where are you going? Do you want us to give you a lift? "

Su Wen hastily waved her hand and rejected without thinking, "My house is just around here. We'll be there in a few steps, so I won't trouble Grandmother!"

"Alright, then we'll be leaving first. Girl, I have a good chat with you today. I hope we'll meet again if fate wills it!"

"Grandmother, I'm also very happy to meet you. I hope we'll meet again next time!" After thinking for a while, he said to the old man who was walking beside the old lady, "Grandpa, goodbye!"

The old man glanced at him and nodded slightly in response.

After seeing the two old men get on the car, the car turned right at the intersection in front of them and then disappeared. Only then did Nikki stick out her tongue and walk in the opposite direction.

She didn't want to trouble herself by putting herself in her own life. There was still a class between people, and they were not in the same class. Even if they were walking together for various reasons, there were still examples of people getting further and further away from each other due to their inability to integrate into each other's lives.

Huanhuan always said that she lived in a dream and didn't recognize the reality. She had unrealistic fantasies about love and marriage, but in fact, she knew that she should have known the reality. She wouldn't dream of unrealistic things, but she didn't think that it was realistic to find someone who shared the same interests as her.

A marriage without love was a tragedy. Nikki didn't want to be caught in the tragedy, but this was her bottom line. For a marriage, she would rather be left out than be left out.

After two days of busy work, she had finally bought all the things she needed to buy at home. She looked at the cozy little nest from two days ago and felt an indescribable sense of satisfaction and happiness in her heart.

www.onlinefreenovels.com

"Ding Ling Ling Ling", the phone rang.

Nikki quickly threw the towel in her hand into the sink. She took a tissue and casually wiped her wet hands before pressing the call button.

"Mr. Editor, it's still too early for the script to be submitted. You're not here to rush the script, are you?"

It was not the day of submission, and the words of Nikki's editor, Ah Hua, were rather casual. However, on the day of submission, especially on the day when he did not finish writing his own script, he would be extremely careful when he faced the sensitive Ah Hua.

A Hua actually had a very dreamy name, A Hua called him Xin Chen. However, the authors of the group chat did not know why, but they gave her such an infuriating nickname, and slowly, the name 'Xin Chen' was forgotten. In the end, even Xin Chen agreed to the nickname 'A Hua', and when the authors saw this, they were even more unbridled.

"I haven't seen you online for the past few days. Don't tell me that you've never written a single word since you submitted your script!"

"Haha, haha!" "Haha! I just moved to a new house and have to pack up all sorts of things. I won't be back in time, but I was just about to open my computer code when you called me!"

"Stop teasing me, and just pick on some nice words to coax me. What, have you left your hometown?"

"Yeah, I just came out two days ago. When you called me that day, I had just got off the plane."

"Warmth, has something happened to your family? They were still fine before, but I didn't hear you mention anything. Why did you suddenly leave your hometown? "Before, when I advised you to come out, you kept on saying that you were just a father and that you had to take good care of him at home. How did you change your mind now?"

What happened at home, Nikki wasn't too willing to say. She couldn't do something about spreading negative energy, "You think too much, I've been in my hometown for a few years and I've never come out. It's something that no one can take, right? "And I'm not an only child, there's even a younger brother and sister down there, they're all by my father's side, what's there to worry about?"

"But ..."